Going to market ...

is a rich experience in meeting and greeting produce and people. One can see and taste what's in season and learn to prepare the season's local best with respect.

Farmers universally love to share recipes, so shoppers should be unafraid to ask what to do with one foodstuff or another.

Today the thrill of outdoor markets is sweeping American towns and cities from Santa Monica to Orono.

Every One Bring One...

Do you know just one person who would enjoy the benefits of shopping at the Orono Farmers' Market? We would love to welcome your friend as our newest shopper!
